

Abstract

Research Title : Database Management for Coconut Sugar production of Samutsongkhram
Community

Author : Mr. Chonmapat Torasa, Mr. Totsaporn Nakyooy, Mr. Narong Narongrat,
Mr. Ratchasak Sannok

Year : 2010

.....

This research report presents the collected data and prepared the database related to the production of coconut sugar from Samutsongkhram province. Which led to the dissemination of information about the source material. Equipment used in the production process. Production process. Source of production and distribution platforms are coconut producers of genuine no impurities. Said by satellite geographic coordinates (GPS) to help identify the location of a production and distribution of coconut sugar at scattered in many areas of the province, Samutsongkhram quick and easy. To maintain and preserve the resources for traditional indigenous knowledge of the identity of the community to remain sustainable. Lead to the dissemination of information about tourism resources and traditional knowledge of indigenous. Webcast. Results of the study showed that planting coconut as a source of raw materials amounted to 14,785 rai. variety coconut be cultivated to be used as coconut sugar has seven strains. Tools used in the process of collecting material with 6 types, and tools for production, with 10 species. the production and distribution of coconut sugar are scattered in many areas of the province. Getting into the source of production and distribution of sugar coconut is not convenient. Because use the roads in the village.